

Palliative care in Cancer Management

Palliative care medicine can be applied to any pet at any time of any disease process.

Palliative care in cancer patients covers the following avenues:

Pain management

Nausea

Adequate nutrition

Adequate hydration

Physical health

Physical therapy

Anxiety management

Using scientifically proven supplements

Education and communication for pet parents

Monitoring of day to day quality of life

We start by reviewing your pet's clinical notes, followed by an extended consult with you and your family. We discuss your expectations, concerns, and requirements at length and then formulate an individualised plan for you and your pet. We also liaise with your regular vet and your oncologist to assess your pet's needs in the short term as well as long term.
